

Concurrent Session 5-A

Planting the seeds of health: Advocacy at its best!

Nancy Nadeau is currently a Lecturer II at the University of Texas of Rio Grande Valley - School of Nursing. She received her associate nursing degree at the Séminaire de St. Georges, Québec, Canada, her bachelor of science in nursing from Université de Sherbrooke, Québec, Canada and her Master of Science in Nursing with a minor in administration from College D'Youville, Buffalo, New York. Her clinical practice is primarily with adult health population. She has more than 30 years of vast nursing experience from Intensive Care Unit to Emergency Room and Med-Surg floor to Home Health Nursing. She has practiced nursing in several countries such as Canada (French and English parts of Canada), Switzerland, Mexico and United States (South Texas). Ms. Nadeau has been teaching for almost 20 years community health and adult health mostly.

Mrs. Roseann Vivanco is currently nursing faculty at UTRGV as Clinical Assistant Professor. She teaches Fundamentals, Wellness and Community Health. She formerly taught at UTHSCSA where she was one of the faculty Directors of the San Antonio Refugee Clinic, one of the student run clinics. Originally from Ohio, she received her Master's Degree from Capital University in Columbus, Ohio. She has held positions at the director and senior director level in Maternal Child Health. She has been teaching since 2008.

No handouts provided for this presentation.

---

---

---

---

---

---